

EIGHT

Ways Dental Implants
Can Change Your Life

MISSING

something?

Missing teeth can sometimes cause pain, discomfort, and emotional stress on an individual.

Those gaps in your smile can have a negative impact on your dental and overall well-being, as well as your confidence. However, there is a way to get your teeth, your confidence and your smile back.

Dental implants, which are completely natural in appearance, can be the solution. If you're unsure about dental implants, here are 8 ways they can change your life.

Smile Without Fear

Do you dread taking photos or find yourself smiling less and less? Missing teeth can have a huge impact on your overall mood, laughter and happiness.

Dental implants are just like your natural teeth. Any gaps in your teeth will be filled with precision-fitted crowns, which will improve your quality of life and alleviate anxiety and embarrassment by allowing the denture to snap into implants.

Even if you've been fitted with dentures, the constant threat of your dentures slipping or falling out can result in less laughter and fewer smiles. Dental implants can eliminate this fear and embarrassment.

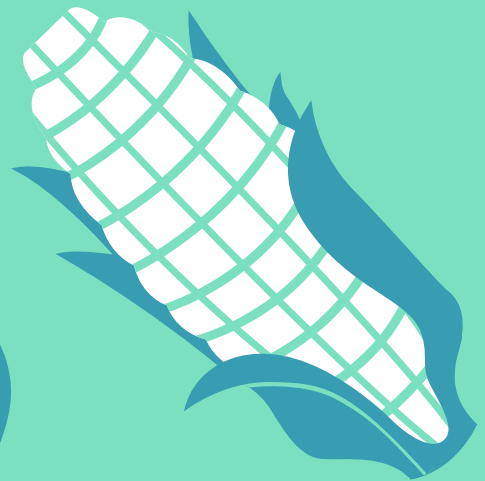

TWO

Eat What You Please

Sometimes with dentures or missing teeth, it can be difficult or next to impossible to eat foods you used to love. Because dental implants are just like a normal tooth, you won't have to avoid hard, sticky, or tough foods anymore—your implants will let you eat anything!

Corn on the cob, apples, popcorn, and any other foods you've been missing won't hold you back anymore. Get back to enjoying the foods you love.

THREE

PUT AN END TO MOUTH PAIN

Missing and damaged teeth can cause pain and discomfort which results in drop in mood and reduces quality of life.

When getting a problem tooth extracted, consider dental implants to replace that tooth, reduce pain, restore function and maintain your smile. Since implants are so natural, it will look as though you have had a tooth there your entire life.

FOUR

IMPROVED DENTAL HEALTH

Teeth and their roots are vital to the health of your jawbone, gums, and other teeth. When you get an implant, which behaves much like a healthy tooth, to replace unhealthy or missing teeth you make a decision that will positively impact your oral health.

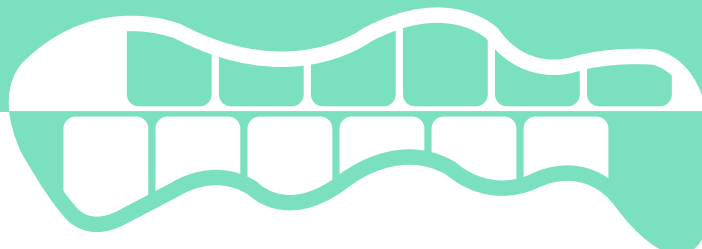

FIVE

NATURAL JAW ALIGNMENT

Missing teeth can alter your bite, which can cause discomfort and difficulty chewing and talking and can lead to TMD, or Temporal Mandibular Dysfunction.

Replacing the tooth right away with a dental implant can minimize any change in your bite and will maintain the high level of chewing capacity that you're accustomed to.

FEEL MORE CONFIDENT

Having all your teeth—and, more importantly, naturally feeling teeth—can help you be more confident, not only when you smile, but also when you chew, bite, and talk.

You use your mouth often during your life, so wouldn't you want it to look and feel its best? With dental implants, your teeth won't just feel healthy; they will look real and natural, too.

SEVEN

ENJOY A LOW MAINTENANCE SMILE

Because of the high-quality material that dental implants are made of, your crown will resist the decay unlike natural teeth. You will still need to do brush, floss, and rinse with fluoride regularly as you normally do in order to protect and maintain your gum health.

But, unlike dentures, there is no adhesive application, no soaking, and, with proper care, certainly no worrying about implants falling out!

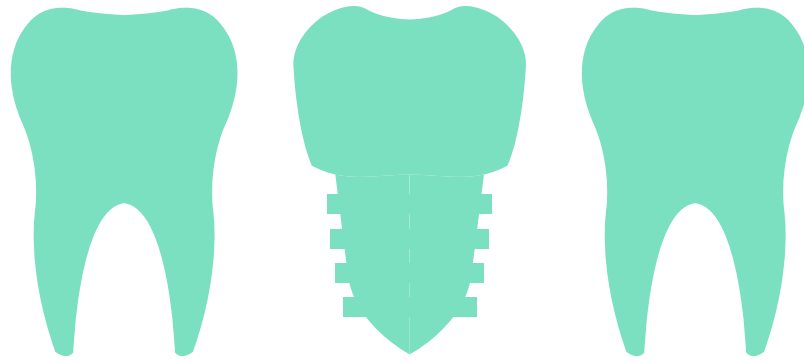

EIGHT

DON'T WORRY ABOUT YOUR TEETH

When you have badly damaged teeth, it can cause stress and anxiety about the longevity of your smile and ability to chew.

When you get implants, that fear is eliminated. You'll be left with beautiful, strong and natural looking teeth.
